

Library Database List

The College subscribes to the following databases that provide a range of online material including journal articles, eBooks, and specialist subject resources.

Some databases are included directly in the EBSCO Discovery search results. Others are separate resources, with links and login instructions available through the Library Catalogue. You can also find links to certain databases in the left-hand column of the Discovery results screen, under “Research tools”, by selecting “Supplemental sources”.

Some of these resources will require you to login with your College Microsoft account.
